

Outstanding Seniors Receive Honors

Outstanding seniors of the year received full recognition for their abilities at the second annual UMD Cap and Gown day convocation at 10 a. m., Wednesday, May 25.

After Bruce Warren, senior class president, presented the class of '49, Provost Raymond C. Gibson presided over the presentation of honors and awards.

The main address was delivered by Dr. Charles N. Saltus, Chairman of the Division of Language and Literature, on the subject, "The Literary Taste." He said, "An educated man will know the main feature of his literary heritage. For by knowing our literary heritage we gain ideas, and the ability to express them." He told students that their acquaintance with literature should begin in younger life for it is difficult to get the full measure of it in older years.

William Lainen received top recognition for distinction in scholarship with a scholastic average of 2.89. Other seniors with averages above 2.5 were Neil Elder, 2.84; Robert Lavin, 2.83; Louis Kachinski, 2.698; George Parkinson, 2.697; Robert Butler, 2.671; James H. M. Erickson, 2.66; Kathleen Korgen, 2.605; Richard Granquist, 2.6; Bruce Warren, 2.57; and Dorothy Magnuson, 2.5.

Recipients of the American Legion Auxiliary awards, 125th Field Artillery, were Mabel Schauland and Bruce Warren. Scholarship, service to the school and leadership were the main qualities used for consideration.

E. W. Bohannon Scholarship Awards went to Kathleen Korgen, Doris Raney, Roy Kent and Robert Renlund in recognition for high scholarship and high ideals.

Robert Lavin and George Parkinson received the Washburn Memorial Award for high scholarships.

Ames, Carlson, Holmes To Edit Publications

Editors and business managers for next year's UMD publications have been appointed, it was announced by the Board of publications today. Don Ames will take over the editorship of the STATESMAN again for the fall quarter, and Richard Carlson will edit the paper through the winter and spring terms. Gerald Holmes was appointed editor of the 1950 Chronicle.

Business manager of the STATESMAN will be Gilbert Good, while Rudolph Fadlovich will be Chronicle business manager.

Council Votes to Investigate Alleged Election Illegalities

Group Favors Immediate Probe

Richard Graving, representing the Young Republican League, dropped a bombshell in Tuesday's Student council meeting. Councilman Graving read a statement from his organization denouncing as "highly unsatisfactory", the way in which the Student council election was conducted.

He said, "It has come to our attention that certain candidates took an active part in officiating at the polls, and whereas we do not question the integrity of these individuals, we feel that it is an indication of poor taste and questionable ethics on the part of those in charge." Graving repeatedly stated that the "integrity of these individuals was not questioned."

Witness Identity Known

Harvey Albond (ROTC) suggested that it might be a good idea to investigate the situation. In the discussion which followed, Graving pointed out that Richard Wherley, newly elected councilman-at-large was seated at the balloting table on election day. Don Ames (STATESMAN) stressed that at least one person had seen students voting without activities cards. When questioned by Wherley as to the identity of the observant individual, Ames declined to reveal the person's name without first obtaining his permission.

The identity of this witness has been disclosed to the investigating committee. He alleges that he observed some students being allowed to vote without activities cards.

Albond moved that a committee be chosen to investigate the election. When president-elect Lee Williams called for discussion on the motion, Wherley charged, "Mr. Albond is disgruntled over the outcome of the election—." Albond interrupted, "I am interested in getting the council off on the right foot." Graving said, "It is unfortunate that personalities had to be involved in the discussion."

Cook Urges Publicity

Don Cook (sophomore class) seconded Albond's motion and also added that any information regarding the election should be directed to the investigating committee.

'49 Homecoming Set for Oct. 29

At a special meeting held Tuesday evening the Student council selected Saturday, Oct. 29, as the date for the 1949 Homecoming celebration.

The day chosen is coincident with the UMD-Winona State college football game.

The motion to accept the Oct. 29 date was passed unanimously. Prior to the vote there was some favorable opinion expressed toward staging Homecoming Nov. 5, the day of the Minnesota "B" game. The Oct. 29 date was favored, however, largely because it was believed that more student interest could be aroused at the game with Winona.

Variety Will Be Keynote Of Summer Session Convos

Harold Russell, the handless veteran star in Sam Goldwyn's production, "Best Years of Our Lives," will speak on "The Fears In Our Lives," in the Auditorium, 8 p. m., Thursday, June 16.

The Dukes vs. Superior will highlight University night, Wednesday, June 16, at the Municipal stadium. All UMD students are especially invited to attend this game.

A "Get Acquainted Dance" will round out the first week of the summer session, Friday evening at Hotel Duluth, June 17.

The following convocations are scheduled for the summer session: The Wade Quartette, 10 a. m., Wednesday, June 22. They will present a program of music, dancing and a baton exhibition; "The Good News from Foggy Bottom," an analysis of the current world situation, is the subject of Dr. Gale W. McGee, chairman of the University of Wyoming Institute of International Affairs, 10 a. m., Wednesday, June 29; Donald Scott-Morrison, an American pianist, will present a program of "Conversation Concerts," 10 a. m., Wednesday, July 6; Lucile La Chapelle, an authority on Speech and Personality in Every-Day Living, will speak at 10 a. m., July 20, and Blanche and Florence Zucker, duo-pianists, will appear at 10 a. m., Tuesday, August 2.

Plans Are Complete For Graduation Event

Plans are now complete for the Baccalaureate service and Commencement exercises. Graduating seniors will wear caps and gowns to participate in their final UMD activities.

The Baccalaureate service is scheduled to take place at the Pilgrim Congregational church on Sunday evening, June 5.

Rabbi William B. Silverman of Temple Emanuel will pronounce the invocation and benediction.

The sermon will be given by Winfield Haycock, pastor of the First Methodist church. His topic will be "The Second Mile."

Commencement exercises will be held on Friday, June 10, at 8 p. m. in the Denfeld High School auditorium.

The main address, "A Time For Prospective," will be delivered by Dr. Theodore C. Blegen, dean of the University of Minnesota graduate school.

Dr. Raymond C. Gibson, provost, will confer degrees on 220 graduating seniors in the second annual UMD commencement.

Arthur E. Hanson, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, will pronounce the invocation and benediction. The UMD orchestra and choir will provide all music for the event.

The faculty will join the seniors in appropriate academic costume for the processional and recessional.

Extra Chronicles On Sale Today

The Chronicle staff requests that all students and faculty who subscribed for the annual and did not receive them as yet come to the Chronicle office immediately. In addition, Chronicles are now being distributed to the first 150 students who signed for the extra copies.

Naval Officers To Study Here

Nineteen Naval officers will attend the summer session at UMD to study under faculty members from the Minneapolis campus and UMD for 11 weeks.

The following are the courses to be taught by instructors from the Minneapolis campus: Quality Control — Richard K. Gaumnitz, assistant dean, School of Business Administration; Industrial Relations — Frank E. Childs, instructor, School of Business Administration, and Production Management — George Filipetti, professor, School of Business Administration.

Stars Give Duluth the Gaze

By Joe Shannon

My name is Alpha Ursae Majoris—call me Al for short. One night while basking in my own luminosity, my pal, Del—his real name is Delta Canis Majoris—came loafing by at 160 miles per second.

“See, somebody’s got his eye on you, Al,” he says. With a startled look I turned to scan the various constellations. “No, no, not up here,” says Del, “down on that little speck called Earth. See that drop of water—that’s Lake Superior—and the red-brick building with the dome-shaped roof is Darling observatory. The somebody who’s been keeping an eye on you is Clarence B. Lindquist, PhD., associate professor of mathematics at UMD.”

“No kidding,” says I.

“Cross my heart and hope my surface temperature drops to 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit if it isn’t true,” Del says. “Why, school kids from that whole region come to give us the eye—practically beg Dr. Lindquist to let ’em take a look through that 9-inch refractor telescope!”

“You mean I haven’t any privacy?” I fumed.

“Now, don’t fly into an eclipse,” returns Del. “Some nights it’s cloudy or atmospheric conditions aren’t just right and then they can’t see a thing, so Dr. Lindquist gives an illustrated lecture on us.”

“Tell me more,” says I.

“Well, Dr. Lindquist is director of the observatory, which was built by John H. Darling at his own expense on land donated by the city of Duluth. It was finished back in 1917 when Mr. Darling was 70 years old. When he died in 1942 he left it to the school along with a $20,000 trust fund for its maintenance. It’s open to the public free on certain scheduled nights during the year. That way everybody has a chance to take a gander at the moon, Jupiter, Mars, and all the gang up here.”

“Gosh, I’m a celebrity,” I replied.

Faculty Sailors Get Prolonged Vacation

By Jean Worrall

While Dr. John E. King, UMD’s academic dean, Dr. Chester Wood, director of the student personnel services, Dr. Raymond W. Darland, associate professor of botany, and Arthur M. Clure, lecturer in business administration, were stranded in a bay off Isle Royale, the campus was alive with rumors, mostly false, concerning the fate of UMD’s cruising faculty members.

The rumors ranged from reports that the “75-odd” (no reflections) persons aboard the U. S. Naval Reserve training ship, P. C. 782, were in danger of starving, to implications that the accident was an unexpected bit of adventure in the routine three-day training cruise.

The vessel, on which the four UMD faculty members were guests, became lodged on a reef in Siskiwitt Bay off Isle Royale, left Duluth early Saturday morning and was scheduled to return Monday evening.

While waiting for Coast Guard cutters, tugboats and minesweepers to dislodge the ship from the reef, Dr. Wood and Dr. Darland took a fishing trip that netted them seven lake trout. The two faculty members were part of an expedition that went by canoe Sunday morning to a lake on Isle Royale. They portaged to the lake where they set up a tent and spent the night. The 15 sea

Student Council Needs New System for Elections

It is doubtful that the Student council committee investigating the recent council election will uncover any evidence of fraud. Regardless of whether or not fraudulent practices were used, it is practically impossible to prove such an accusation at this late date. There has been testimony submitted to the committee to the effect that some students were allowed to vote without presenting activities cards.

Such testimony is not conclusive proof of fraud, but, nevertheless, should not be disregarded.

The major contribution which the council committee can render is to make recommendations which would prevent such dubious circumstances from surrounding any future school elections.

Several suggestions for im-

- ★provement of council election procedures are as follows:
- Elections should not be made the responsibility of any individual (e. g. the election committee chairman) in the council.
  - The number of votes should be equal to the number of candidates selected (e. g. in the last election, although five members-at-large were to be selected, the voter could only cast his ballot for two).
  - A convocation should be held the day before the election to allow each candidate to present his views.
  - No campaigning should be allowed on election day.
  - Persons running for office should not need to obtain signatures in order to file, but may have the backing of campus organizations.
  - No soliciting of votes on the part of poll watchers should be allowed. Passers-by the polls should not be enticed to come to vote.
  - Candidates should not be allowed to assist at the polls.

The Paths of Glory Lead But to ‘Embraceable U’

By John Parkinson

J. Biceps Letterman, athletic hero and winner of 13 major letters in his four years at Nearly Normal, was a young man of exemplary character. His handsome face, bearing a perpetual grin and an occasional cleat mark, set many a mother planning in an effort to snag him for her darling daughter. His six-foot frame bore shoulders that stayed when his coat went. His Old World manners were ‘ooh, so divine.’ At least they were out of this world.

J. Biceps firmly believed that he owed all his athletic prowess to the fact that he never smoked, drank, or associated with the opposing sex. He would have maintained this pure, untainted, unbelievable outlook until his death had he not met HER.

She was a member of the GAA. She, a dainty, winsome, 156 pounds of girlish enthusiasm, could throw a softball farther than most males on the campus. She got her hooks into him and down he tumbled.

Attracted to her by her athletic ability, he soon fell under the spell of her wistful smile and conference record in the broad jump. She taught the worshiping young man to smoke under the guise of relaxation. She then introduced our love-sick hero to beer and other soft drinks. You can easily see the path he was taking. One night after they had won the mixed-doubles handball tournament she caused him to kiss her on the forehead; the next night on the cheek; the next on the lips.

Three years later he was a mental, physical, and moral wreck, while she had deserted him for a soft job as wrestling instructor at Embraceable U.

MORAL: Don’t count your chicks before they get in the coupe.

Complaints . . . .

Editor:

This is to notify you that our letter of last issue protesting the coverage of the Student Council election was originated by the Young DFL club and not by its chairman, Dick Wherley. We still maintain that the coverage was insufficient. As yet, we have failed to see the delegate-at-large totals in the STATESMAN.

And Compliments . . . .

Dear Sir:

As adviser of the junior class I would like to commend the entire student body on their fine conduct and behavior at the junior-senior prom held at the Armory last Friday, May 27. The custodians at the Armory said that it was one of the cleanest parties held at the Armory all year.

I would also like to praise the junior class for their wonderful turnout when it came to decorating and arranging for this prom. The occasion served to bring about a highly commendable unity of effort.

Very sincerely,

When Barbara Hein steps up to receive her diploma a week from now, it will be but a brief pause in her wide and varied musical career. With her B. S. degree in music and speech, she will be ready to assume her position as a music teacher in the high school at Grand Rapids, Minn., next fall.

There is a backlog of experience backing her up in her new venture. Barb is not only the editor of the paper for Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music fraternity for women, a member of the chorus and the glee club, but also belongs to Orchesis and the Sigma Phi Kappa, social sorority. As a climax to this, she was soloist with the orchestra in its annual concert this month.

Barbara also finds time to devote to the University Guild productions. She has been in the cast of “Liliom” and “Love Rides the Rails.”

For the last two quarters she has been practice teaching at the lab school and at Denfeld high school.

Seniors Receive Recognition

The George A. Primmer Award, to a major in geography with the highest scholastic average, was presented to Walter Price. Nancy Yager received the Sigma Alpha Iota award for outstanding work in music. The Stephen H. Samsen Award for character and scholarship in the field of education was awarded to Donna Schreiber, a two-year graduate. The outstanding senior in athletics, Edward Hill, was given the "M" Club Award.

UMD to Offer 100 Courses in June

Variety Marks Summer Term

Dr. John King

"A university level program of studies and the perfect Duluth summer climate provide a combination that is expected to bring a greatly increased summer session enrollment to this campus for the sessions which begin June 13," states Dean John King, chairman of the Summer Session committee. To accommodate the expected increase in enrollment for the summer sessions, Dean King has planned an extensive and well-rounded academic and social program for the summer.

Sixty-three staff members will offer more than 100 courses to summer session students. Three visiting lecturers; Dr. James Urvin Rundle, assistant professor of English at Ohio University; Dr. Lee Francis Jones, head of the department of education at Western Kentucky State college and Dr. Mark Aaron Graubard, associate professor of general studies at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis campus, will augment the staff for the summer session.

Graduate work will be offered to teachers and administrators for the first time during the summer session at UMD. Dr. Theodore Belgen, dean of graduate school, and two of his assistants were on campus last month to inspect UMD's facilities for a graduate school.

There will be ten graduate courses offered during the two terms of summer session. The courses offered in the first term are: Basic Principles of Measurement—Dr. Harry C. Johnson; Teaching and Supervision of Arithmetic in the Elementary School—Dr. Harry C. Johnson; The Curriculum of the Secondary School—Valworth R. Plumb; and The Teacher and Secondary School Administration—Dr. Chester W. Wood. The courses offered the second summer term are the Curriculum of the Elementary School—Dr. Harry C. Johnson; Supervision and Improvement of Instruction—Dr. Harry C. Johnson; Elementary School Organization and Administration—Dr. Leonard B. Wheat; Education and Problems of American Democracy—Dr. Lee F. Jones; History of Public Education in the United States—Dr. Lee F. Jones; and Rural Education for Administrators and Teachers—Dr. John E. King.

Students who are interested in applying for admission to the Graduate School may consult Graduate School Bulletins and may receive Graduate School application blanks in the Division of Education and Psychology, University of Minnesota, Duluth Branch, Duluth 5, or from the Office of the Graduate School, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 14.

As an added inducement to enrollment, Charles A. Burchfield, dean of American water colorists, will be a guest artist in residence during the second term of the summer session. UMD art students will have the privilege of studying under one of America's foremost artists this summer. Attesting to his ability, the Metropolitan Gallery of Art, the Fogg Art Gallery and many others have hung his work.

Duluth residents will be given the opportunity to view Burchfield's work when the UMD Art department will

Provost Announces New Loan Fund

The establishment of an emergency loan fund for UMD students was announced by Dr. Raymond C. Gibson, provost.

First contributor to the fund, which will be used to extend small, short-time loans to students in the event of emergencies, was J. D. Mahoney, Duluth resident and vice-president of the First and American National bank.

L. D. Rawn of Duluth, and the 1948 UMD senior class have also contributed towards the establishment of this fund.

Dr. Chester W. Wood, director of student personnel services, will exercise the fund through his office.

"Many times a student needs enough money to pay his board bill until his veteran's check comes in, or a student has to go home because of illness and doesn't have enough cash on hand to pay his train fare," said Dr. Wood. "These are the types of emergencies we will meet with this fund."

Art Department Shows Water Color Exhibit

June 1 through 30 the art department is giving a retrospective show of Charles A. Burchfield's water colors at Tweed hall. Burchfield, the Dean of American Watercolorists, will exhibit about 15 of his water colors.

Second summer session art students will have the privilege of studying under Burchfield, as he will be a guest instructor for that session.

★ exhibit a show of his water colors in the Art Gallery of Tweed hall, June 1 to July 1. Art students will be interested in the set of informal preliminary sketches which will be shown along with approximately 15 of Mr. Burchfield's water colors.

Anyone interested may enroll in UMD for the second summer session to participate in the Burchfield course. A maximum of six under-graduate credits may be earned in the five-week period. The students will not be allowed to take any other academic work while participating in the art course. Classes will consist of informal sessions which will meet for four hours each afternoon, Monday through Friday.

Further information may be obtained by writing to Dr. R. Dale Miller, Chairman of the Division of Fine and Applied Arts, University of Minnesota, Duluth Branch, Duluth 5, Minnesota.

Statesman Tourney Concludes With Semis, Finals Next Week

The semi-finals have been reached in the STATESMAN tennis tourney which will be concluded next week.

In the men's singles Ralph Ellison, Don Ames, Laird Goodman, and Kermit Johnson are the semi-finalists. Ellison defeated Tom Parr 6-4, 6-4, Ames won over Joe Aubin 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, Goodman outlasted Paul Bilger 9-7, 0-6, 6-3, and Johnson ousted Don Pinther in straight sets 7-5, 6-2. Ellison will play Ames and Goodman will oppose Johnson.

The men's doubles division has the Paul Bilger-Kermit Johnson, Joe Aubin-Tom Parr, John Collins-Ralph Ellison and Don Ames-Don Kjellman teams in the semi-finals. The Bilger-Johnson team will play Aubin-Parr, and Collins-Ellison will tangle with Ames-Kjellman.

The mixed doubles semi-finals matches are Kermit Johnson-Dottie Hartwell vs. Tom Bowman-Ella Johnston and Don Ames-Jeanne Peterson vs. Paul Bilger-Pat Gilui-son.

UMD tennis coach Ray Isenbarger announced this week that netters receiving letters are Kermit Johnson, Paul Bilger, Tom Parr, Don Ames and Don Pinther.

★ Tommies Win MIAC Meet; UMD Thinclads Eighth

By Dave Dye

UMD found at the MIAC track meet in St. Paul two weeks ago, that competition among its new conference affiliates is definitely of a very high caliber. St. Thomas and Macalester presented well-balanced, reserve-laden track squads as they finished one-two in the 30th annual running of the conference meet.

The Bulldogs managed to eke out 4 and 1/8 points in the drizzling rain, largely on the springy legs of high-jumper Marlowe Hamerston, who tied for second place by jumping 5' 9 1/2. The other 1 and 1/8 points were pulled in by a trio of pole vaulters, Bob Potter, Ed Westerhaus and Bruce Budge, who, along with five others, tied for fourth place, missing at 11' 6".

No other UMD tracksters garnered any medals, although they took several "sixths." Glenn Olson placed among the six qualifiers by putting the shot 41' 11 3/4". Ed Westerhaus narrowly missed qualifying in the broad jump and Les Nummela and Elwood Laakso spurred to finish close to the winners in the 880 and the two-mile run, respectively.

Others participating in the meet were Cal Main, hurdles and high jump; Norm Ward, hurdles; Ken Hendrickson, dashes and broad jump; Bernie Neary, discus; Bob Ritchie, hurdles; Paul Johnson, mile; Walt Carlson, 880 and Larry LaFave, two mile run.

★ Bulldog Golfers Cap Season With Sixth Place in Conference

The better-than-fair UMD golf team ruined a previously excellent year when they took sixth place in the MIAC golf meet held on the tough Keller course in St. Paul. The squad combined an off day with a high wind and rugged layout to arrive at their sixth position. Had they merely met their former high meet total they would have copped a first place in their initial entry in the tight MIAC. Their average was 84 strokes while St. Thomas found 80.2 good enough for a win.

★ 'M' Club to Elect New Officers in Fall

The University "M" club voted at the last meeting of the year that the present officers would remain until the opening meeting next fall, at which time new officers will be elected. Lloyd Holm, basketball pilot at Denfeld high school, spoke on coaching basketball. Joe Waters and Jack Peterson were in charge of refreshments.

The opening meet of the season saw Michigan Tech fall to the Bulldogs at Lester park 10 1/2-4 1/2. May 7 the UMD team fashioned a team average of 78 to whip the University of North Dakota, along with St. Cloud, Moorhead, and Bemidji State at Bemidji. The return meet with Michigan Tech at Houghton has been cancelled.

Letter winners are Tom Kohlbry, Rick Liljedahl, Jack Gerard, Bill Strang, John Olsen, and Andrew Bida. Kohlbry is the only senior on the squad.

Wind Sprints slows to a fast duck walk at this stage of the game. While we're pausing to regain our breath, let's take a few moments to look back on the season to the things accomplished at UMD, and let's also take a gander at those things which went unaccomplished.

We tied with Mankato TC for the State conference football championship. Bulldog basketball took second place in the same conference's cage race. The hockey team went undefeated in seven starts against some pretty tough going. UMD skiers copped two meets while placing in another. The golf squad won two meets and placed sixth in the MIAC. Bulldog netters captured three firsts, lost none and competed in the conference meet. The track team, while not a strong outfit, performed well in four meets against stiff competition. We entered the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic conference. We were granted a new athletic plant upon which construction will soon begin. We had an active intramural program.

We fell down on school spirit. This was partly the students' fault, partly the Barkers club's fault. (They say this place is haunted; everyone is always harping about school spirit.) We failed to honor our athletes with a banquet or an assembly. We didn't encourage promising high school athletes to enroll at UMD next fall.

From this viewpoint it appears the accomplished outnumber the unaccomplished.

It is not our aim to smooth over the bad spots of our program nor is it to glorify the good things. We must realize that this task of building a new school and program takes time, time and more time. We can't afford to lose patience when something isn't as it should be. If we can recognize our shortcomings and correct them and continue improving our accomplishments, we can and will become a power, athletically speaking, in the MIAC. What say we pull together?

Neat bit of editorializing if there ever was one. They say that's poor journalism but you can get away with anything when you're way down here in a corner like this. Keep cool this summer—you will if you stay in town. If you hear anything, colliers.
